

FROM COACH DENG

Play for a long time.

My 4-week home program. The same work I give my own players.

4 weeks
16 sessions

20 min
per session

1 ball
and a wall

The best players aren't the most talented. They're the ones still playing at 30.

HOW IT WORKS

Here is how I want you to do it

When	4 days a week. Pick days you can keep. On game days, do the ball block only.
How long	20 minutes, about 28 in week 4. Same four blocks every time.
What you need	A basketball, a wall and a bit of space. A hoop helps, not needed.
The goal	Strong ankles, knees and hips, and the ball in your hands most days.

WHY IT WORKS

What keeps my players on court

Strong joints

Calves, hips and core take the hits from every jump and cut.

Slow on the way down

Three seconds down on every move that goes down and up. That builds strong muscles and tendons.

Touch it often

A few minutes with the ball most days beats one long session a week.

Rest that moves

On days off, play another sport, run or bike. Keep one day a week fully off.

Safety first. Warm up every time and clear the floor. Sore muscles in week 1 are normal. Sharp pain, or pain in a heel, knee or your back, means stop that move and tell a parent or me.

BLOCK 1 · 3 MIN

Warm-up

Jog on the spot	1 min
Leg swings, hand on the wall	10 each leg, each way
Ankle circles	10 each foot, each way
Jump and stick: small jump, land quiet on bent knees, freeze 3 sec	6

BLOCK 2 · 8 MIN

Body: stay on court for years

3 Three seconds on the way down.
On every move that goes down and up: tuck-ups, lunges, calf raises.

Plank circles Forearms and toes on the floor, body straight. Move your whole body in a small circle.	4 each way
Tuck-ups with the ball On your back, knees bent. Curl up and pass the ball between your knees. Lower for 3 seconds, lower back flat.	8 passes
Plank ball roll Push-up position, feet wide. Push the ball under your chest from hand to hand. Hands stay on the floor, never on the ball.	8 rolls
Single-leg bridge Lie on your back, one heel on the floor, other leg up. Push your hips high and level. Hold.	20 sec each
Low side shuffle Ball out of the way first. Stay low, knees over toes, feet never touch.	10 steps each way
Reverse lunge with 3 pulses Ball at your chest. Step back and lower for 3 seconds. Back knee stops just above the floor. 3 small pulses, then drive up.	6 each leg
Single-leg calf raises One hand on the wall. Up on your toes, then 3 seconds down.	12 each leg

Too hard? Knees down on both planks. Too easy? Straighten your legs on the tuck-ups, back flat.

I built this block on ideas from Ryan Flaherty's strength work.

BLOCK 3 · 7 MIN

Ball: touch it every day

Pound dribble: hard and low, each hand	30 sec each
Crossovers, low and fast	30 sec
Figure 8: weave the ball around and between your legs	30 sec
Wall passes, two hands and one hand	1 min
Form shots, one hand, close to the hoop. No hoop? Aim at a spot high on the wall	20 makes

BLOCK 4 · 2 MIN

Cool down

Calf stretch: hands on the wall, back heel down	20 sec each side
Hamstring stretch: sit, one leg straight, reach for your toes	20 sec each side
Hip stretch: kneel on one knee, push your hips forward	20 sec each side

That is one session. 20 minutes, about 28 in week 4. Do it 4 days a week and tick a box on the next page.

PROGRESSION

Get a little better every week

Keep every change from the week before.

Week	What changes
1	As written. Learn every move properly.
2	Add 2 reps to every move with reps. Bridge holds go to 25 sec. Dribble with your eyes up.
3	Four seconds on the way down. Pound dribble 1 minute with your weak hand.
4	Body block twice through, 1 minute rest between. About 28 minutes. Everything cleaner than week 1.

TRACKER

Tick it off

Tick one box after every session. 16 boxes, done.
